

Master of Athletic Training (MAT) Program Frequently Asked Questions

March 15, 2023 is the priority deadline and May 15, 2023 is the final deadline for application submission for the Summer 2023 entering class.

Program Description and Accreditation Information

The Master of Athletic Training Program provides preparation for a professional career as an athletic trainer. The graduate program of study is full-time and spans six (6) consecutive semesters. Upon successful completion of the program, the student will be awarded the Master of Athletic Training (MAT) degree.

The Program is accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of Athletic Training Education with an accreditation status of "Active - in good standing" through the 2024-2025 academic year by the Commission on Accreditation of Athletic Training Education (CAATE, 6850 Austin Center Blvd., Suite 100, Austin, TX 78731-3184; phone 512-733-9700; email: support@caate.net). Mercer University is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools to award baccalaureate, master's, and doctoral degrees.

Admissions Requirements

- Applicants are required to submit a primary application via ATCAS (<http://www.atcas.org/>). All official college/university transcripts must be submitted directly to ATCAS.
- Completion of a Bachelor's degree (2.85 cumulative GPA recommended) from a regionally-accredited American college or university.
- Documentation of at least 50 hours of clinical observation under the supervision of an athletic trainer.
- Completion of all seven prerequisites prior to matriculation with required GPA of 2.85. If a prerequisite has been taken more than once, the best attempt will be used in calculating the prerequisite GPA.
- Two letters of recommendation. (One letter must be from a College or University professor and one letter must be from an athletic trainer.)
- Applicants must also meet the MAT Program's Technical Standards in order to be considered for admission into the program.
- Qualified applicants will be invited to visit the Athletic Training Program for an interview.

I do not have a 2.85 on a 4.0 scale, can I still be considered for admission?

The Mercer University MAT Program has a conditional admissions policy for applicants with a GPA between 2.5 and 2.85. Occasionally students may be admitted conditionally with a GPA of less than 2.85. Students admitted under conditional status must maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.0 for the first 8 credit hours of the curriculum. Students with GPAs below 2.5 will not be considered for admission.

What are the materials required to apply to the Master of Athletic Training Program?

Please visit our website (<http://chp.mercer.edu/admissions/admissions-requirements/athletic-training/>) to learn more information about the application process before you apply.

International applicants must also meet additional requirements regarding foreign course evaluations and English proficiency (TOEFL).

What are the required courses needed for applying to the Master of Athletic Training Program?

The 7 prerequisites for Mercer's MAT Program are:

- Chemistry I (for science majors) with lab,
- Physics I (for science majors) with lab,
- Two course series of human anatomy and physiology with lab,
- Biology course,
- Psychology course with an emphasis on individual behavior (general, abnormal or developmental), and
- Statistics or biostatistics course.

Additionally, we recommend you complete four (4) of these seven (7) courses prior to application and include a plan for completing the outstanding prerequisite courses in your application. Applicants are encouraged to complete coursework / experience in professional writing and oral communication prior to enrollment in Mercer's MAT Program. Examples of courses / experiences related to these areas are: writing intensive courses, grant writing, professional publication(s), public speaking, Toastmasters.

What kind of undergraduate degree do I need for admission?

We accept a Bachelor's degree in any field from a regionally accredited college or university as long as the prerequisites are completed. Students may apply while still completing a bachelor's degree, but the degree must be awarded and conferred prior to enrollment into the MAT Program.

Why should I consider Mercer for this program?

Mercer's Athletic Training Program is compliant with the 2020 CAATE accreditation standards for professional masters programs, is housed in the College of Health Professions, which is part of Mercer's Health Sciences Center. As such, Mercer's MAT Program is uniquely positioned to provide interprofessional education experiences that will prepare graduates to be an integral part of the healthcare team. Mercer University competes in 18 Division I sports, which provides a tremendous variety of clinical education opportunities. Further demonstrating the quality of the program, the first graduating cohort had a 100% first attempt pass rate on the BOC (Board of Certification for the Athletic Trainer – www.bocac.org/) and each graduate secured employment as an athletic trainer.

Why should I enroll in a Master of Athletic Training Program?

Athletic training is a very rewarding profession where you will have the opportunity to provide healthcare in a variety of settings that include universities, high schools, professional sports, clinics, hospitals, and performing arts, the military and industrial settings. The job outlook is excellent with much faster growth than average. The latest employment numbers indicate a 23% year to year increase in available jobs.

What courses do you take in the Master of Athletic Training Program?

Please see the attached curriculum outline. Course descriptions are available on the University Registrar's website at <http://www2.mercer.edu/Registrar/Catalogs/default.htm>.

Can I transfer into the Mercer MAT Program and receive credit for courses completed at another Athletic Training program?

The Mercer MAT Program does not grant advanced standing nor accept transfer credit from other athletic training programs.

Where is the MAT Program located?

The MAT Program is located on the Macon campus utilizing on-campus clinical opportunities with Mercer's athletic teams. The MAT Program has a dedicated classroom, learning lab, and research lab.

Can I work while I am in the MAT Program?

The intensity and continuity of the MAT Program requires the full-time attendance and attention of students. The curriculum is demanding and does not allow extra time for employment. The administration, therefore, views outside employment with disfavor as such employment may interfere with the quality of a student's academic performance.

How much will the MAT Program cost?

Tuition (per semester)	$ 8,250
Facilities and Technology Fee (per semester)	$ 150
First semester lab fee	$ 300
Second semester lab fee	$ 80
Fifth semester lab fee	$ 80
Other fees*	$ 2,900
Total tuition and fees	$53,760

Please note that these fees are subject to change each year after the Board of Trustees meeting in April. There also is an increase in tuition each year (2-3% in recent years). Students in the MAT Program will incur expenses that are in addition to tuitions and university fees. These may include immunizations, a physical exam, and background check as part of the admissions requirements. Students will be required to access internet sites during classes and clinical experiences so a laptop computer will be required. Students will be required to join the NATA, purchase textbooks, uniforms, and will be responsible for transportation to their clinical sites. Students are encouraged to refer to the CHP Admissions website for a current estimate of additional expenses related to the MAT Program <http://chp.mercer.edu/admissions/tuition-financial-planning/>.
